ABSTRACT

This study aims to identify the main barriers to retirement planning and determine whether career commitment, job attachment, and expectations related to professional development affect retirement planning for public and private employees in Palembang, Indonesia. Retirement can be considered one of the most important social change events. Important in late adulthood, which requires realigning the routines of daily life and social contacts. This allows the emergence of psychological problems. Retirement by some workers can be seen as a long-awaited period. However, some perceive it as a time when most employees are concerned about not preparing themselves financially early for retirement. Some employees entering retirement face a difficult financial life. They feel that the burden of living and lifestyle costs is getting more expensive, and because of the age factor, health costs increase while routine income decreases. The approach used in this research is quantitative. Data collection techniques using a questionnaire using a sample of 114 employees in Palembang. The data uses reliability analysis, multiple linear regression, normality analysis, and correlation analysis using SPSS software. This study indicates that the main obstacles in retirement planning among workers greatly affect career commitment, attachment to work, and expectations related to professional development. The target respondents were employees due to the limited time for data collection, which should have been more than 120, because many did not have time to fill out the questionnaire. This research is expected to increase knowledge about retirement planning in more detail.

Keywords:

Planned retirement age, career commitment, Attachment to work, Work-related expectations.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I completed this research program with the invaluable support, encouragement, inspiration, and active cooperation of several individuals. Therefore, we are indebted and wish to express our deep gratitude to them.

First, I would like to thank God Almighty for giving me physical and spiritual health. Then our lecturer AP. Dr. Jaizah Binti Othman has always been a source of inspiration for me to do this thesis. Dr. Jaizah is always ready to help his students with their thesis or research. Apart from that, I also don't forget my supervisor, Mrs. Sumaiah Muhammad and Mrs. Nurhasanah, S.E, M.Si., Ak., CA. I am very grateful for their support, generosity and encouragement, especially in reading and providing feedback during my thesis. I greatly benefited from their continued assistance in the research protocol and their sincere discussions and guidance throughout the various stages of this research.

I also extend my most profound appreciation and gratitude to my family, Bapak, Ibu, Kak Randy, Kak Candra, Uni Dyan, Ayuk Lina, Verdy, Wawa, Yuyu, and Naznaz. They have inspired and encouraged me in every way. specifically, I Would like to thank too Dwiki, who always accompany me from the start until the day I finish this thesis, always trust, and give support to finish this work when I thought of giving up, and always encouraged me to complete my thesis on time. next, I want to thank all my beloved 29-03A housemates, and I want to thank my classmates who have struggled from the beginning of the semester until now. You are all amazing. Finally, I would like to express my deepest gratitude to myself.

DEDICATION

This study is wholeheartedly dedicated to my beloved family, friends, and classmates who provided advice, strength, and encouragement to complete this thesis when I thought of giving up, and who provided constant moral, spiritual, emotional, and financial support.

In addition, my lecturer AP. Dr. Jaizah Othman and supervisor Mrs. Sumaiah Muhammad and Mrs. Nurhasanah, S.E, M.Si., Ak., CA. were a source of inspiration and a pillar of support in the completion of this thesis. And lastly, I have dedicated this book to Almighty God. I thank you for the guidance, the strength, the power of the spirit, the protection and the abilities and for giving me a healthy life. All this I offer to you.
