

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

5.1. Conclusion

In writing a novella entitled “Family’s Doll”, the writer concluded that there were eight steps. The writer did these steps starting from getting ideas, choosing, outlining, drafting, redrafting/reviewing, editing, and getting published. As the result of the final draft of this novella, the writer was printed out into a book. In getting published, this novella was uploaded to Wattpad so that it can be read by many readers around the world.

Based on the process that has been done, this novella can be used to promote some tourist attractions in Pagar Alam City. Furthermore, this novella was written in English which used to entertain the readers with an informal style.

5.2. Suggestion

The writer suggests the readers of this report used this report as one of the references to develop new ideas for writing their final report about writing a novella. The writer also suggests writing the story every day even for only 10 minutes a day and writing the ideas that the author finds suddenly.

For the printed-out novella, the writer suggests making sure the design fits with the reader’s expectations. The readers can contact the publisher or directly come to the publisher’s office.