

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND RECOMMENDATION

5.1 Conclusion

Based on the results of the previous discussion, it can be concluded several things as follows:

1. Has increasing the work efficiency of the library from a manual system to a computer technology-based system.
2. This application has made it easier for admins or librarians to manage member data, books, borrows, and computerized reports more effectively and efficiently.
3. Borrowing books at the library which was originally done manually can now be done only through the user's mobile phone.

5.2 Recommendation

Based on the conclusions stated above, the authors provide several suggestions that can be used as useful input for the development of this application. For future recommendations it is hoped that in the future this application can be developed and carried out maintenance with the addition of features or other facilities such as eBooks.
