

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSIONS AND SUGGESTIONS

5.1 Conclusions

There are thirteen characteristics should be in travel writings, however there are seven characteristics are not fulfilled by the travel writers in blogs The Trinity Traveler and Journal Kinchan. They are still any vulgar words in the articles. There are still any articles using idiom. The travel writers used sentences or words that have bad connotation as racist. Any articles do not provide clear explanation about tourism objects in articles and some of articles do not provide reviews of tourism objects. There are still any articles that are do not focus in one idea. Some travel writers did not does research for information in the articles. There is no balance comparison between positive and negative comparison by the travel writer in the articles. These might happen because of the lack of knowledge about the characteristics of travel writings. Because of the style of each travel writers in provides the articles in their blogs and the lack of awareness of travel writers on the responsibility to provides quality and educating travel writings.

5.2 Suggestions

The writer suggests that the travel writer of blogs The Trinity Traveler and Journal Kinchan improve and pay attention to the manners of their travel writing skills. Besides, there are many readers from each level read their articles or travel writing. Therefore, they should care and have a responsibility for the articles they published because travel writing is not only about sharing but also about educating.