5.1 Conclusion

Research and Development modification method that consists of preliminary study, model development and final product testing step really helped the writer in designing a booklet entitled “Al-Munawar Village”. In the first step, preliminary study, the writer did the literature study, field survey and model draft design. The literature study was conducted by reading some articles, book and also website about booklet and Al-Munawar Village. Field survey was conducted by observing the Al-Munawar Village and interviewing the chief of neighbors, and the model draft design was done after getting all the information from literature study and field survey.

In the second step, model development step, limited and wider testing were carried out in order to develop the booklet draft. In limited testing, one of the citizen who lived in Al-Munawar Village suggested to add the information about the history section in the Al-Munawar Village booklet draft. In wider testing, the revised model draft was checked by two experts, Palembang Cultural expert and the head of 13 Ulu Subdistrict. The first expert commented to add the menu of ngidang makan and minum in the traditions section. While, the second expert focused on the additional informations in the section of the old houses.

The first expert focused on the covers of Al-Munawar Village booklet, while, the last expert suggested to change the name of the old houses and the descriptions. The experts’ valuable comments were used to revise the booklet draft and make the final booklet. The booklet provides two different language versions, English and Indonesia.
