

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

5.1 Conclusion

Overseas field trip is one of learning methods used to give the students experience out of their daily activities in the class. The purpose are to give education, learning experience, and observe the objects in the natural state. In English Department of State Polytechnic of Sriwijaya, overseas field trip is a requirement program for the students to graduate. The importance of implementing the overseas field trip for the students of English Department are to give them experience and teach them new knowledge especially the tourism industry, variety of cultures, and improving the skills of the students especially tour arranging in order to achieve the goals of English Department. This research has described that overseas field trips can be designed to more effectively supports student learning to explore in a personally meaningful way.

5.2 Suggestion

The department of English should give the instruction and introduction first about overseas field trip to the students before the field trip, so that they will utilize the overseas field trip program as an effective learning as well as recreation.

It will be better if the students choose one or two destination which is possible to visit for one day. So that they can enjoy the trip while explore the tourism object comfortably without limited time.