

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSIONS AND SUGGESTIONS

This chapter presents the conclusion of students' perception and learning experience on study excursion and also the suggestion for this research study.

5.1 Conclusions

Based on the results of this research about students' perception and learning experience on study excursion, it can be concluded that students perceived any value in developing students' knowledge, tour planning skills and learning experience as a result of study excursion experiences. Study excursion is as a method of study activities and as positive educational experiences to affect students' learning outcome that related learning objectives, skills, socialization and personal development. For the result of questionnaire, all of English department students are greatly improved in decision making (planning to achieve goals), dealing with pressures, emotions and stress, understanding and awareness-of different: people, cultures, perspective and actions, making and maintaining relationship and using information technology.

From the result of interview both individually and focus group decision, it can be concluded that mostly English department students feel study excursion is not only as leisure activities but also as one of educational exercises for students to obtain the real education value.

5.2 Suggestions

The writer suggests that:

- The next students who will do study excursion can use this study excursion as their references
- English department especially lecturer can encourage the students to research more about students' perception and benefit of learning experience on study excursion.
