ABSTRACT

Designing a Booklet of a New Variant of Dodol from Corn

(Frisca Tita Kusuma Ningrum, 2017 : 48 Pages (Chapter I-V))

This final report is aimed in designing a booklet of a new variant of dodol from corn. It also discusses the developing of a new variant of dodol from corn. The purpose of this final report is to promote the cultural heritage food from Indonesia by using a booklet.

In writing this final report, the writer used the modification of Research and Development Method from Borg and Gall (1983). Using two main steps in Research and Development Method: Research Steps and Development Steps, the modification was conducted due to the limitation of the time and budget. The Research Steps consisted of Research and Information Collection; and Interviews. After the data were collected from the Research Steps, next the data were used to develop the product into Development Steps. The Development Steps consisted of planning, product development, testing, revision, final product and dissemination.

The results revealed that in designing the booklet, the design was created by the writer and supported by some expert's suggestion for better final version. The writer prepared the data of the framework in designing the booklet and the information of the content about Corn Dodol recipe, the pictures and the process of making the corn dodol itself. All collected data were inserted to the booklet and arranged into a good design to be printed as a trial printed version. It was reviewed by three experts: design, content, and language. The reviews pointed out that there were some items need to be revised. First, the design expert reviewed on the font, the pictures, and the background. Second, the dodol expert commented on the taste, the color, and the package. Finally, the language expert corrected the grammar and the diction of the text. Having all the reviews addressed, the booklet, then, printed into a final version.
