

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

In this chapter, the writer wrote the conclusions and suggestion from the result of the research of designing tour package of cooking Palembang traditional food.

5.1 Conclusion

Traditional food has become one of the tourism attractions that can make people feel interesting to come to a tourism destination. In other hand, tourism has become the main activities that most people do nowadays. In order to develop the tourism destination, government has the role to promote tourism destination in their areas. A local person also has the role to support the government in promoting the tourism destination. Local people especially the travel agent usually provides a tour package about their tourism destinations. Tour package is a plan of tour that has been organized systematically by the tour agent or individual tour guide including the tourism destinations, tourism attraction, tour itinerary, facilities, tour price and other related information about the tour.

5.2 Suggestion

After the writer finished this research, the writer found out that the traditional market in Palembang is not suitable yet to become the part of this tour package. The government should arrange the traditional market to become more tidy and cleaner in order to interact and make the tourists feel comfortable. Moreover for the tourism destination in this tour package, it is better to provide the bigger place of tour so that there are more tourists that can participate in this tour package.