

CHAPTER 5

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

This chapter presents the conclusion of designing “Bejajo Malem” as night culinary magazine and the suggestion for the purpose of this magazine.

5.1 Conclusion

The magazine of night culinary places in Palembang can be used as the media promotion to promote night culinary places in Palembang. for designing this magazine, the writer use Research and Development Method (preliminary study, model development, and final product). The information of night culinary places (location, cost, menus, etc.) are needed in designing this magazine. First, the information about the night culinary places in Palembang are obtained by observation and interview with the owner and visitors of night culinnary places. Second, the writing skill is needed so that the writer can describe the information wee with the focus on grammar, conjunction, vocabulary, and others. And the third, the writer needs the equipment to support the writer’s graphic skill such as the photoshop application to make the model draft of Palembang’s night culinary magazine. Then, the writer needs some comments, suggestions, and advices from the expert in developing the model draft in field of informations, language, and magazine design.

5.2 Suggestion

The writer expected to the readers who will be interest to read this magazine containing Palembang’s night culinary places. By reading this magazine, the writer also hoped that the readers are interested in tasting and sharing the informations about night culinaries in Palembang to their friends, relatives, or closest people. And the last, for the next researches to keep update and complete the contains about the informations of night culinary places in Palembang.