

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

5.1 Conclusion

Based on the research and development of the Bolu Kojo, the writer concludes that Bolu Kojo can be developed using Ambon Banana. It can be a new variant of traditional foods from Palembang. In making this new variant of Bolu Kojo, the writer used research and development method by Borg and Gall. This product is accepted by the community or public. The product has been revised by the experts. The writer disseminated the product using questionnaire. The writer distributed questionnaire to 25 respondents. The respondents gave a positive response for the cake. It proved by the acceptance percentage result from 25 respondents with show around 80%. The information about the cake can be found in Cooking Video. The Cooking Video contains the information about the ingredients and the steps to make Bolu Kojo with Banana Variant.

5.2 Suggestion

There is an obstacle that the writer found during this research. To overcome the obstacles, the writer suggests the reader as following:

The writer has difficulty in finding the information about Bolu kojo. People who work in culinary field like chef, entrepreneur of traditional cake and blogger of culinary should produce a book or an article about ingredients, steps, and information of traditional cakes from Palembang.