

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

This chapter explains about the conclusion and suggestion of the final report.

5.1. Conclusion

The six steps to write a short story based on the idea of Grenville (2001), that was implemented in a short story with the title “A Journey from Lost to Found”, are getting ideas, choosing, outlining, drafting, revising, and editing. These six steps of writing short story (Grenville, 2001) was applicable. During the writer implemented the steps of writing short story by Grenville (2001), there were some advantages and disadvantages of employing the steps. The advantages were, the clear applied steps, so the writer understood what were the next steps should be taken. The steps were also easily implemented because when the writer wrote the story, the writer could implement the simple and easily employed steps. On the other hand, the writer also found disadvantages when implemented the steps. The main difficulty was the difficulty of acquiring the idea about starting to write the short story.

5.2. Suggestion

Based on the research of writing a short story entitled “A Journey from Lost to Found” to introduce Palembang Historical Tourism Venues, the writer would like to give some suggestions as follows:

1. For the next writers (students of English Department) who want to write fiction story such as short story, the writer suggests to decide the idea clearly.
2. For the next writers (students of English Department) who want to write a short story to be able to ask directly with successful writers how they determine the elements of short stories, including how they build chemistry between lead female and lead male in the story.

3. The next writers (students of English Department) can make more short stories or other fiction stories about tourism in their own cities because it will help the government to promote tourism so that it can increase tourists to visit.
4. The government can make an effort such as providing an online library of fiction stories that promote or introduce tourism destination in Palembang.