

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

5.1 Conclusion

Based on the explanation given in the previous chapter, the writer concludes that this application is very useful as the guidance for the people who have not been to Palembang to know the information of Palembang traditional food. The application provides six kinds of food namely laksan, pempek tunu, pindang baung, brengkes patin, es kacang merah and the last one is srikayo. The users of the application would find complete information about traditional foods of Palembang in the application. The information are the general description of the food, the ingredients along with the steps of cooking it, the Palembang traditional songs to make the application more interesting, video of cooking the food and the maps of the place which sell those six kinds of food. This application provides the information in English language. In creating the application, the writer used the web ibuildapps.com. The application also fulfills the requirements of elements in application (Berilsam, 2017) such as: color, font, icon, illustration, brand design, and navigation.

5.2 Suggestion

Based on the results of designing the mobile phone application, the writer suggests for the next researcher to develop the application by adding some Palembang traditional foods and add the translation of the English script in order to make the users of the application especially local users easy to understand the content of the application.