

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSIONS AND SUGGESTIONS

This chapter explains about the conclusions and suggestions of this final report.

5.1 Conclusion

The booklet entitled “Traditional snacks from Pali” can be used as a medium to promote culinary tourism in Pali. Due to the constraints of this research which limited in time and budget, the booklet making used Research and Development (R&D) method with the R&D Method by Borg and Gall (1983) which adapted and conducted in the six steps: (1) Research and Information Collection; (2) Planning the product; (3) Developing Preliminary Form of Product; (4) Preliminary Product Testing; (5) Preliminary Product Revision into Final Product; (6) Dissemination. In the process of making the booklet, some knowledge, skills, and experts opinion were needed. First, the information and knowledge about Pali snacks made from Petalingflour are used for the booklet content. Second, writing skills in English and Indonesian language, grammar knowledge and vocabularies are needed to describe about Pali snacks. Third, photography skill is needed in order to take good pictures of Pali snacks. Fourth, skill in using the software application called Corel Draw is needed in order to make the design of the booklet,

In the process of the booklet development, the comments from the experts in the field of English and Indonesian languages, graphic design and Pali snacks are really needed. Finally, the writer made the final product of the “Traditional snacks from Pali” booklet to be one of printed media that can be used to promote the culinary tourism sector in Pali.

5.2 Suggestions

The suggestions were made based on the constraints of this research: budget and time. The writer expects that the future researchers could explore more snacks with basic ingredients from natural resources like Petaling flour. This could add value to local product which increase the potentials of economics and tourism sectors. Additionally, having more time to find more experts to review the products to have better results. Having more participats also means more dissemination for the product itself.

